Subject: Home Inspection CE's

Good morning, Phyllis – I am following up to an email you had with a former employee of ours, Tara Burchfield about submitting continuing education approvals from ASHI back on May 25 this year (please see attached). I went to your website to see if we were listed on there as a provider for Continuing Education Credits and didn't see our company name. Were the ASHI approval letters submitted to you? If not, I am attaching for your information.

In addition, I wanted to verify that online courses are acceptable. We have two types of online course offerings that are approved through ASHI. Could you validate if these are accepted forms of CE training?

1. On Demand- where they can take the course any time anywhere- it is prerecorded with questions and attendance checks.
2. Scheduled online course that is pre-recorded but with an instructor present to answer questions.

My next question is, upon the state of AL approval, do we need to submit course completion rosters to you or do the inspectors do that on their end? Do we resubmit the courses with new approvals each year? As we get more course work approved, do I email you those new approval letters? Do we give you a link to our website for home inspectors to link to for the listing and to obtain the approved courses?

Thank you for your time!

Best regards,

Susan Allard
